

The introductory screen, as depicted in the initial screenshot, reveals an IntroActivity that specifically reflects my personal investment in the project.

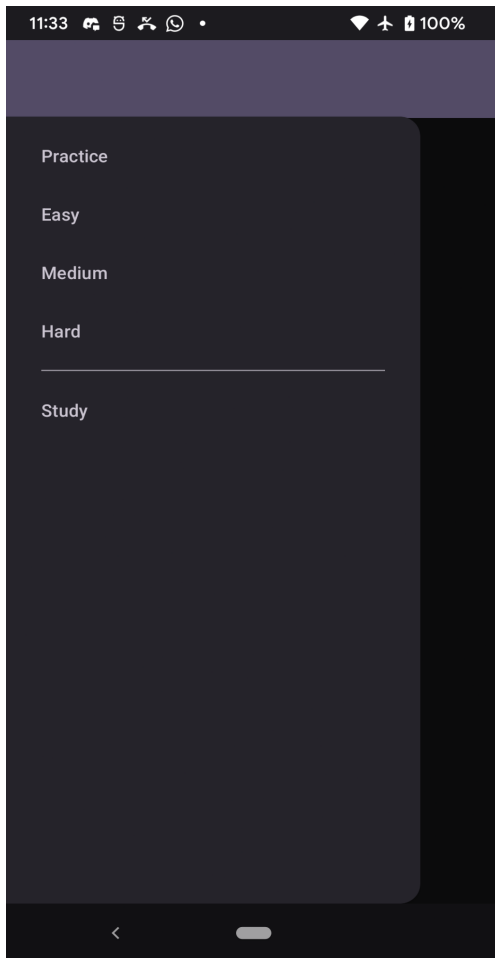

---

Upon clicking the first button, the initial screen displayed is the start menu. Activating the playButton, however, will signal that no selection has been made.

---

Swiping to the left you get the following selection menu

Presented below is a list of options, each representing a distinct mode for selection. Upon pressing each mode, a corresponding description is provided. Further details can be explored on the subsequent page.

